

FRACTALER'S

ORPHANS

|

Red Giant
Outcast
Something Is Coming Over Me
Lakes In The Space
Astral Love
Secrets Of The Heart
Gardens Of The Universe
Physical Meeting
Another Story
Capture
I'll See You Again
A Cell Beyond The River
Plague
Signals From A Close Star

RED GIANT

In Planet Cytrom, ruled by the Kanius binary system, life's been damned. Kanius A's nuclear fusion is no longer reliable. Cytrom is losing his source of light and life. Slowly, it will become a scorched and inert body.

In the past, the Cytronians had not found another world to conquer because every candidate planet was already inhabited. Therefore, now they had little time to flee their home and to find a new one . . .

"I was young when I saw the Dust of the Future; For us, the space would turn into a Cold Dessert.

It began with a Flash. We were amazed by the changing and imposing presence of our mother.

Centuries were traveling faster; soon we realized we had to leave our dying home. We have sent tons of messages for help. . .

No Answer!"

OUTCAST

Previous to the crisis period, there was someone who tried to prove his theories about new ways for space travels through unknown dimensions. They didn't believe him, they thought he was some kind of sorcerer, so they sent him away until he'd reconsidered his ideas and he'd returned to the right lane of Cytrom's society. His name was Joul.

JOUL

I have been in oblivion where I have seen other windows

And I'm paying for that crime, for having a different mind.

They thought I was too dangerous.

I take her hand to see new wonders; her lovely voice in my dreams keeps calling me.

They sent me away in loneliness. It is the old law's reign.

But I took the hidden road, I've found future worlds.

A guilty guy, a hungry mind.

I reach the stars to see new wonders; her lovely voice calling me, it's burning in my heart.

Outcast

I reach the stars to see new wonders; her lovely voice in my dreams keeps calling me.

"The outcast is outside, I saw new wonders, I was gone, that's why I know this place is not for me anymore. Loneliness. . . Loneliness. . . I've got this feeling, I've got this feeling that things will change for me. Things will change for me! Things will change for me. . ."

SOMETHING IS COMING OVER ME

And in another planet, almost 1975 lights year from Cytrom, a woman named Scarlet was feeling there was something wrong with her life. Before, she thought she had it all, as a fact, she lived with the most important person of that planet, the Great Leader of the Party, considered as the owner of the planet. Now, she was convinced that there was something else than that life where she didn't belong anymore.

The name of the planet was Earth. Its owner's name was Vanderbergh.

SCARLET

I'd always thought I'd feel a real heart, a cozy house, an honest life

But laziness just got the worst of me.

Somebody else's dream

A different state, a marvelous place where

I reach the skies and I learn to expand my mind.

Something is coming over.

I wasn't born to live a lie like this. The easiest way is my disgrace.

A wonderland, a kingdom view. Inside this golden room

A different state, a marvelous place where

I touch the sky and I learn to expand my mind.

Something is coming over me.

I'm looking for a change to come. (To get away, to get away)

To get away first I have to change myself

Something is coming over me

Awakenings from fairy tales, I really want to be disengaged

The lonely Home, the crying eyes, the story of my trapped life.

LAKES IN THE SPACE

Earth year was 2777. The blue planet was not blue anymore. Little by little it had lost its ancient tonality; with those exorbitant and showy lights in each corner of a metallic and gray surface, it looked like The Moon, its only satellite, but without craters.

Scarlet was learning how to escape from that world, how to find a resting place where she could be herself. She was discovering a shelter in another dimension, with no time, and no space, a place called the astral world. From there, she could travel to other worlds, to other planets, to several hidden and unknown wonders of the universe, only with her astral body while her physical body remained still on Earth.

ASTRAL LOVE

After several months flying through the astral world's alleys, Scarlet met someone who made her shine again.

They didn't know each other in a physical way, neither had they been in contact through sounds or visions. Just two ethereal orphans sailing at mind speed among landscapes of the universe, conceiving an unknown way of living without the boundaries of time and space.

They had found a real and galactic love in that abstract state of matter. And Scarlet knew he was not human; An alien outcast whose name was Joul.

SCARLET

Finally I've found a light in my journeys through the stars

No flesh, just my soul sailing through magic zones

*I'm thrilled when we're joined in this astral time
It's a different passion; we're so close and so far
I'd like to stay forever in this world
'cause I've found myself inside your deep thoughts*

I don't know how you really are But I'm in love with your foreign heart, your intruder heart

JOUL

*I saw new wonders
Sometimes I think I will never go back to the mortal and useless life.
I was gone!*

SECRETS OF THE HEART

Everything had changed. Scarlet felt she had finally found something important in her trapped and faked life, something that was worth fighting for. There was no turning back. It was time for risk, for getting a light, maybe in another star, because sooner or later her heart would talk louder, shouting all the secrets she had hardly saved. If Vanderbergh figured it out, Death or something worse would be the result. But anyway, if she didn't take action she would die in a different way.

SCARLET

*Something has changed in me
I'm screaming for help in madness
Now I know I'll never come back to be with this human kind
And I long to be with you again
Because you bring out the best of me
To escape from this icy place which lives in darkness*

*With no oxygen
All the secrets of the heart will be lost
Complex decisions. I want to change my skin
I can't live wearing this disguise
I won't let go of the passion of my life
All the secrets of the heart
All the secrets of my heart
Traveler's ages. I am tired and I want to live again, alive!*

JOUL

*All the secrets of your heart, suddenly they will be gone
All the secrets of your heart, suddenly they will be known*

GARDENS OF THE UNIVERSE

In all of his travels, Joul had known a lot of species in the Milky Way galaxy. However, he knew there were other civilizations he had never seen. Ages of evolution.

Almost every intelligent civilizations of the galaxy knew about "The First Seed", the one that was spread out through similar planets in order to let evolution do the job. Because Earth was a close neighbor of Cytrom, "The First Seed" was developed in a similar way in both of them

Joul had no doubt about this, as a fact, being with Scarlet in the astral world convinced him even more that they weren't so different. This knowledge gave them the strength to make the decision.

Each one of them traveling in their own spaceship. The physical meeting was about to take place

Vanderbergh had also heard about "The First Seed", and that knowledge could be the most dangerous thing for any Earth's neighbor intelligence.

PHYSICAL MEETING

Scarlet had a secret shelter in the Solar System where she used to go when she felt suffocated of pretending. There, she would meet Joul; The most important action of her life. She would see him and touch him for the first time. Two races joining together.

SCARLET

The secret garden, the greatest place to meet you in the flesh

The innermost being is what really matters; it's your own kind of beauty

The crucial moment, 'cause I see your eyes for the first time

A clear knowledge 'of how defying and exciting you are.

Strongest love in the physical meeting, will you touch me?

My body is burning in the physical meeting, will you take me in your arms?

The perfect moment, I see your eyes and

I know we're so alike

I am ready for you, I'll stay forever in your arms, what is next?

I don't mind.

ANOTHER STORY

Now that they had had the physical meeting, the lovers were stronger in their bond. Their future had to be forged far and away from Earth.

Meanwhile, they were living new moments, new experiences, enjoying perhaps the only real days of their life.

In that recondite gorgeous refuge, two ex orphans were about to face another twist in their lives.

JOUL

*A trying time for lovers
Mesmerized in our fervor.*

*We're enjoying borrowed days
To get a new free state*

*Another time, another story
Other places to be chosen*

*We are hidden from the real world
Together everything looks easier
How long will we have this illusion?*

*We cannot always live in fantasy
Another life, another story*

Other places to be chosen

A new retreat in alien mornings

Another time, another story

The sounds that make me feel

The star that makes me dream

CAPTURE

It happened when they were sleeping. A thunderous blast woke them up. When they opened their eyes, they could barely see the changing environment. Little by little, while the crash kept going on, it was turning black. Soon, their bodies were pulled out fiercely. They felt that some kind of hoover was dragging them down. Everything began to change faster, the colors were going away and their bodies now were spinning out of control, they were moving toward something unknown, a new place hard to imagine for both of them.

I'LL SEE YOU AGAIN

Scarlet felt dizzy, trying to understand what had happened, her whole body hurt.

When she was able open her eyes she only saw the blackness. She didn't know where she was or where Joul was. She just could picture their destiny in a land of slaves. The only explanation for those events was that they were discovered by Vanderbergh, Earth's owner.

Even though it wasn't so hard to accept the doom of her life, because she knew nothing could escape Vandenbergh's will, she decided to create a fictional hope, with no base or foundation.

Hope moved her in the past to begin her travels. Hope made it possible for her to meet her alien love. Hope was better than being paralyzed with chains of depression until the end came over.

SCARLET

I spent the best days of my life, it was a daydream time.

And suddenly it came to an end; now I only wonder if I'll see you again.

They locked me up away from you. I'm on thin ice again

I will try to heal the wounds. I will always fight to see you again.

Well, all my dreams were flying through your hands, now I'm alone, and I still wonder if I'll see you again.

Well, all my dreams were flying through your hands, I'm so alone, but I still wonder if I'll see you again.

"Spirit, liberty, flying thoughts, a new window"

It seems there is no hope to keep, I feel an electric pain. I won't accept these things on me, I will always fight to see you again.

A CELL BEYOND THE RIVER

In the dark solitude, in some kind of cell, Joul noticed that he wasn't so alone. Scarlet wasn't there, but he saw some shadows figures. He realized, they were ancient humans, but with a bizarre aspect. Their bodies were made of metal, iron, some vestiges of flesh, a lot of scars and injuries, dressed with a black and brown uniform with the picture of a man in their chest that he couldn't identify. Nevertheless, he was able to figure out who he was because of what Scarlet had told him: Vanderbergh. Joul thought there was no soul in those bodies, they seemed to had no mind of their own, no thinking of their own. He started to be afraid, the fear would increase as the hours passed by, and he could only think everything was lost

JOUL

*And it just happened; we lost our den in a single blink
Our naive heart thought that our feelings and our muse would never stop to shine.
A cell beyond the river, a cell beyond yourself.
Uncertain future, but I'll never regret the risk I took.
Always in black, I cannot move but a stranger is drilling into my mind
A cell beyond your fears, a cell beyond yourself where we start to lose ourselves. A cell beyond the river. Beyond, I stay.
I'm losing it!
Life is always wrong when we live in any kind of prison.
A cell beyond the river, a cell beyond yourself
where we start to lose ourselves. A cell beyond the river. Beyond, I stay.*

PLAGUE

Joul was losing the battle to remain sane. An unbearable pain in his mind would be developed day after day, month after month. . . Year after year... He would suffer in silence all of kinds of physical and psychological torture until the sadness, the pain and the depression make him lose his mind. This was the first of several phases in a process that he couldn't imagine. He didn't know the reason, but it looked like he would end as the other prisoners next to him. Also, with that treatment, he was unable to visit the astral world. No sound, no words, nothing to see but the loneliness and desolation. He was just waiting for the end.

JOUL

*Stars closer to the end, I see the remnants of faith
The changes have happened to both of us, my veins are boiling in eruption.
My body begins to feel the suffering, days passing by, my heart stops beating.
It's coming, the plague is coming, running to the end of time.*

SIGNALS FROM A CLOSE STAR

To save their existence and to plan their exodus, Cytrom was still stirring for help in distant boundaries of the galaxy. No reply. . . Then, all of a sudden, a signal was coming from a neighboring system, it offered its house as a shelter. That place was known as Earth.

